EPITAPH

After the German withdrawal, this message was found by a local schoolmaster, chalked on the blackboard.

Never again in this the world endure such a Christmas.

To die in battle at such a time, far from home, from children, wife and mother nothing is more cruel.

Separated, a son from his mother, a husband from his wife, a father from his children. Is any man deserving of this?

Life must be for giving and receiving, for loving and respecting. (Mardi, 30 Novembre 1999 00:00)
